Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 07 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers for today, dry with clear spells overnight.

Today:
A cloudy start across the region with some isolated showers. Sunny spells may occur, while showers becoming more frequent during the afternoon, heavy and potentially thundery at times. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning drier during the evening with any lingering showers dying out and sunny spells to follow. Remain dry overnight, with more clear spells to come. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Thursday:
Thursday morning will be fairly cloudy with a chance of showers. Skies should brighten a little more for the rest of the day. Feeling cooler than recently. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mostly dry with sunny spells and some isolated showers for Friday. Turning cloudy on Saturday, with rain across the south. Further showers on Sunday perhaps heavy and thundery.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.